

Small Group Leaders:

There are no Going Further questions for the sermon on Breaking Free from Abuse this week because of the sensitive nature of this topic. We feel that your group setting is not the appropriate place for people to discuss this topic because of the damage that could happen to the relationships that exist within your group. We feel that people who are experiencing abuse should speak with professionals who are equipped to handle this type of issue and we do not want to put you into the position of being a referee between people in your group. If anyone in your group expresses that they are in an abusive relationship and would like help in breaking free from their abuse, please refer them to our Care Pastors (Care@gracechurchco.com) or encourage them to contact our Celebrate Recovery ministry (celebraterecovery@gracechurchco.com). If you have any questions, feel free to contact us.
